

TODDLER TEACHER POSITION

Radcliffe Child Care Center

Radcliffe Child Care Center, a Harvard University-affiliated center, is currently seeking to fill the position of Young Toddler Teacher, full time

Join our team of dedicated early childhood professionals. Nestled in the heart of Harvard Square, and just steps away from the Charles River, Radcliffe is home to five early childhood classrooms with children three months to five years of age. Our teachers work collaboratively in this team of four to provide the highest quality early childhood education and care to eight toddlers, age one to two years old.

We are inspired by the world-renown schools in Reggio Emilia, Italy, and other child-centered pedagogies. We share the belief that fundamental to our work is a respect for the capabilities and potential of every child and the hopes and dreams of every family. We believe that every child is naturally curious, and that no child exists in isolation from his or her peers, family, teachers, or community, each child forms meaning through interactions with others. We value the participation of families in enriching the child's learning experience and forging connections between home and the classroom. In addition to being Reggio-inspired, we are a recently NAEYC-accredited program.

We seek teachers who want to make a difference in the lives of young children and be a part of a warm, caring community. Experienced candidates should be familiar with NAEYC standards, EEC regulations, and have an understanding of the Reggio Emilia philosophy. We seek teachers who have experience documenting the learning of children, planning exciting and dynamic curriculum, have knowledge of developmentally appropriate practice, and are committed to growing and learning with children alongside children, colleagues, and parents.

Candidates are required to have a Bachelor's degree in Early Childhood Education or a related field, EEC certification, and a minimum of one to two years of working with young children. Candidates should be professional, warm, flexible, and passionate about Early Childhood Education. MA Degree is preferred.

Radcliffe offers a very competitive salary commensurate with education and experience, as well as an excellent benefits package and exceptional professional development opportunities, and nearby parking is available.

Please send a cover letter and resume to Hilary Odoy, Director at:
rccc.director@campus-cc.org

INFANT TEACHER POSITION

Radcliffe Child Care Center

Join our team of dedicated early childhood Infant care professionals. Radcliffe CCC is seeking a fourth member to join their team, to care for seven infants, 3 months to one year old. Nestled in the heart of Harvard Square, and just steps away from the Charles River, Radcliffe is home to five early childhood classrooms with children three months to five years of age. Our teachers work collaboratively in teams of co-teachers to provide the highest quality early childhood education and care.

Our work is inspired by the world-renown Infant and Toddler Centres schools in Reggio Emilia, Italy, as well as other child-centered pedagogies. We share the belief that fundamental to our work is a respect for the capabilities and potential of every child and the hopes and dreams of every family. We believe that every child is naturally curious and that no child exists in isolation from his or her peers, family, teachers, or community. Each child forms meaning through interactions with others. We value the participation of families in enriching the child's learning experience and forging connections between home and the classroom. In addition to being Reggio-inspired, we are a recently NAEYC-accredited program.

We seek teachers who want to make a difference in the lives of young children and be a part of a warm, caring community. Experienced candidates should be familiar with NAEYC standards, EEC regulations, and have an understanding of the Reggio Emilia philosophy. We seek teachers who have experience documenting the learning of children, planning exciting and dynamic curriculum, have knowledge of developmentally appropriate practice, and are committed to growing and learning with children alongside children, colleagues, and parents.

Candidates are required to have a Bachelor's degree in Early Childhood Education or a related field, EEC certification, and a minimum of one to two years of working with young children. Candidates should be professional, warm, flexible, and passionate about Early Childhood Education. MA Degree is preferred.

Radcliffe offers a very competitive salary commensurate with education and experience, as well as an excellent benefits package and exceptional professional development opportunities. Nearby parking is available.

Please send a cover letter and resume to

Hilary Odoy, Director at: rcc.director@campus-cc.org